NEW YORK, Oct. 3 .- Here is the official log of the second race between Shamrock Il and Columbia for America's cup.

Official Start-Shamrock ..... Columbia .... First Mark, Official-Columbia Second Mark, Official-Pinish, Official-Etapsed Time-corrected Time-Columbia ......3:12:35 Shamrock ...... 3.16:19 Course: Triangular, first leg, cast, half uth, ten miles; second leg. southwest, half south, ten miles; third leg, north, northeast, ten miles, to fluish.

Weather: Fresh breeze from north northwest, which remained true and maintained its strength throughout the day.

Pastest Race of Its Kind. In a giorious whole sail breeze, which heeled the big cup contestants down until their legrails were awash in the foaming seas. Herreshoff's white wonder, Columbia, today beat Watson's British creation. Shamrock II, over a triangular course of thirty miles in two minutes and fifty-two seconds, actual time. With the forty-three seconds which the Irish sloop must allow the American boat on account of its larger sail plan, Columbia won the second race by three minutes and thirty-five seconds. the fastest race ever sailed in a cup contest! It was not only a royal struggle from spectacular point of view, but it was absolutely decisive as to the merits of the we racing machines. There is not a vachting sharp who witnessed the race today who is not firmly convinced that the defender is the abler boat, blow high or blow

Cup Seems Safe. Again the ancient piece of silver temporary restraining order made by the was brought across the western ocean fifty years ago, is safe. Again American supremacy in marine architecture has been vindicated. Sir Thomas has been wishing for a breeze that would bury Shamrock's leerail and today he had it, just as it had a similar breeze in the concluding race two years ago, when Columbia in a driving finish beat the first Shamrock over six minutes. The wind today was strong and true, blowing around eighteen knots out of the northwest, and at every point of sailing. except perhaps running before the wind, in which the defender has already taken the measure of the challenger, the Yankee sloop proved itself abler than the Watson model. > > Exciting All the Way.

Not, perhaps, as thrilling as the remarkable contest of last Saturday, today's race was, nevertheless, stirring from start to finish, and as a marine spectacle it could hardly have been surpassed. It was an ideal October day at sea. There was just enough frostiness to clear the atmosphere and make the whole course visible from shore. The breeze from the land piled up little swells, but it was strong enough to whip the froth out of the racing waves until it whitened the face of the sea. Its claws caught the black smoke from the stacks of the excursion fleet and the white steam from their exhaust pipes creek, near the old Warpatch rendezvous and tore them into fragments. The ensigns of Victoro and Geronimo a few years ago, and flags with which the vessels were dressed stood out like painted boards. The received. United States Marshal Foraker | tall, canvas-clouded racers heeled as the wind smote them until their crews could with difficulty keep their footing on the slippery sloping decks and the spurting spray was tossed thirty feet high as they shot their lean noses free of the foaming crests. On the thresh to windward their decks were a smother of white and fountains of foam circled away from their graceful bows. Fools the English Shipper. The Yankee victory began with the start, when the crafty Barr by a system of maneuvering convinced his adversary that he was trying to cross the line first. Captain Sycamore promptly took the bait and rush-Captain Barr, having accomplished his purheld off for more than a minute. Then with a flying start he went over just before the handicap gun was fired. Some of the patriots were disappointed until the experts explained that there was no windward their course straight for the mark and that was overhauling the flying challenger.
